Idaho Pediatric Dentistry (IDPD) will use and disclose patient healthcare information during your child's treatment, while obtaining payment from insurance companies and during general healthcare operations. For example:

Treatment. IDPD may use your child's health information during his/her direct treatment or by disclosing such information to other dentists, physicians or healthcare providers who may provide specialized treatment for your child.

Payment. We may also use and disclose your child's health information to obtain payment for services rendered. We may disclose your child's healthcare information to another healthcare provider or entity that is also subject to these same federal & state Privacy Rules & Regulations for payment activities.

Healthcare Operations. We may use and disclose your child's healthcare information during our routine healthcare operations. Healthcare operations may include quality assessments and improvement activities, reviewing the competence or qualifications of healthcare professionals, evaluating practitioner and provider performance, conducting training programs, accreditation, certification, licensing or credentialing activities. We may disclose your child's healthcare information to another healthcare provider or organization that is subject to the same federal & state Privacy Rules & Regulations and that has a relationship with you during the support of healthcare operations. To Your Family & Friends. We may disclose your child's health information to a family member, friend or other person to the extent necessary to help with your child's healthcare or with payment for previously performed healthcare services. If you are not present, or in the event you are incapacitated and cannot make a decision for your child, or in the event of an emergency, we will disclose your child's medical information based on our professional judgment of whether the disclosure would be appropriate and in your child's best interest. We will use our professional judgment and our experience with common practices to make reasonable inferences of your child's best interest in allowing a person to pick up filled prescriptions, medical/dental supplies, radiographs, or other similar forms including health information. We may also use or disclose information about your child to notify or assist in notifying a person involved in his/her care.

PARENT/LEGAL GUARDIAN RIGHTS

Access. You have the right to look at or get a copy of your child's health information, with limited expectations. You may request that we provide a copy in a format other than photocopies. We will use the format you request, unless we cannot practically do so. You must make all requests in writing to obtain access to your child's healthcare information. You may request access by sending us a letter. If you request a copy, we will charge you a reasonable fee, which may include labor, copying costs and postage. Disclosure Accounting. You have the right to receive a list of instances in which IDPD or any of our business associates disclosed your child's health information over the past six-years (but not prior to April 14, 2003). That list will not include disclosures for treatment, payment, healthcare operations, as authorized by you, and for certain activities. If you request this accounting more than once in a 12-month period, we may charge you a reasonable, cost-based fee for responding to these additional requests.

Restriction. You have the right to request that we place additional restrictions on the use or disclosure of your child's healthcare information. We are not required to agree with such additional restrictions, but if we do, we will abide by our agreement (except in the event of an emergency). Any agreement we may make to a request for additional restrictions must be in writing and signed by our privacy officer. Your request is not binding unless our agreement is in writing.
